Praxis 2 5038 study guide 2020 printable version 1

(1998). It is a time when students learn how to appropriately respond to other's writing. This competency tests your knowledge recognizing and evaluating the use of formative and summative assessments of reading, writing, speaking, and listening. Using Rubrics to Assess Writing Using a rubric to assess writing sets expectations for students to meet. Buy now Effective writing starts with an author understanding what their purpose is for writing so they can create a piece of writing. Understanding your student's backgrounds can help you plan and use sources to connect the learning to something they understand. The practice test is timed just like the real test and allows you to move easily from question to question to simulate what you will experience on the day of the test. Teachers monitor writing around the room and use this time to pull individual students or small groups who are struggling in an area of the writing process to work with them. Share Time is when students choose a part or a whole piece of their writing to share with the entire class. For a look at what to expect on the day of your test, how to navigate through a Praxis® test and more, visit the Video Library. Wikis are helpful when teaching students how to collaborate during group projects. This competency tests your knowledge of research-based strategies to teach the writing process. Writing Workshop Writing workshop is designed to have students become better writers by writing. An author writes a piece of writing to state their opinion, create a literary work, inform, entertain, or persuade their reader. Rubrics help set clear expectations and provide feedback to show where improvement is needed. Apache/2.4.41 (Ubuntu) Server at lillyfellows.central.edu Port 443 This content category has 48 selected-response questions. Each area assessed needs to be broken down into categories that show where students mastered that area or where they need improvement. The requested URL was not found on this server. This full-length practice test lets you practice answering one set of authentic test questions in an environment that simulates the computer-delivered test. Teachers bring students together to be direct and focus on specific writing skills. The rubric should have a grading scale and each category should show how many points can be earned for each area. This competency tests your knowledge of identifying and evaluating the effectiveness of strategies and techniques used to create productive and collaborative discussions. Active Listening Active listening is intentionally being focused on the speaker and not just passively hearing what they are talking about. K., author. Note: There are three versions available for this test title, Form 1, Form 2 and Form 3. Levine Books This competency tests your knowledge of how to deliver effective speeches or presentations by identifying characteristics, evaluating different media, and determining how information is presented. Characteristics of Effective Delivery of a Presentation Eye contact involves being able to read the room and look for reactions, as well as being able to keep your eyes up and look the audience in the eyes. Visual aids could include powerpoints, videos, charts, or graphs. You should share the rubric when explaining a writing assignment to a student so they are able to use it to guide their writing assignment. Priced Test Preparation English Language Arts: Content Knowledge, Interactive Practice Test Use this interactive practice test to prepare for the English Language Arts: Content Knowledge test (5038). These questions account for 37% of the entire Praxis® English Language Arts: Content Knowledge exam. The Writing, Speaking, and Listening content category can be broken down into 10 competencies: Modes of Writing Task, Purpose, and Audience; Clear and Coherent Writing; Research Practices; Speech and Presentation Delivery; Teaching Students to Use Digital Media; Teaching Components of Writing; Assessing Reading, Writing, Speaking, and Listening; Oral Communication; Incorporating Student Diversity; Let's look at each of these competencies and discuss a specific concept from each one. This competency tests your knowledge of identifying, comparing, and determining the author's purpose of the different modes of writing. Common Modes of Writing This competency tests your knowledge of identifying, choosing, and evaluating the appropriate type of writing for a specific task, purpose, or audience. Purpose The purpose of writing is dependent on the task and the audience. For example, it includes expectations of the writing process, the qualities of good writing, and editing skills. Writing usually lasts about 35-45 minutes and is where students are working independently on their writing and going through the writing process. Conferring happens during independent writing time. Setting up background knowledge prior to learning a new topic will help those students who might not have enough knowledge on a new topic be successful. And that's some basic info about the Praxis® English Language Arts: Content Knowledge exam. It is important to actively listen to your students to create a comfortable, safe, and respectful environment in the classroom. Each time you take a practice test (Form 1, Form 2 or Form 3), the same questions will appear in the same order. New York: Arthur A. Being able to create a visual helps the audience to see and relate to the topic you're explaining. Tone creates the mood of your presentation. It is important to model active listening so students understand how to actively listen. Make eye contact with the person Listen to how they feel, not just the content of what they are saying Be sincere Restate what the person said Ask clarifying questions Be aware of your body language This competency tests your knowledge of what strategies to use to create a safe environment based on the needs a student has based on their perspectives, cultures, and backgrounds they bring into the classroom. Creating a Safe Environment Understanding that all students bring something different into the classroom based on their background is important. Additionally, a 404 Not Found error was encountered while trying to use an Error Document to handle the request. After completing the test, you can also see the correct answers and explanations for each correct answer and view your results by content category. There are different transitional words or phrases associated with each type of writing. This competency tests your knowledge of digital and print sources and how to effectively evaluate, identify, and cite sources. Components of a Citation The components of a citation include the who, what, when and where of a source. The Who = the author of the source The What = the title of the source The When = the date of when the source was published The Where = where the source was published or where to find it online Example: Rowling, J. When students are connected to their learning they feel safe and want to share. Being able to use your voice effectively to create an appropriate tone for your presentation includes being able to control your volume, clarity, pauses and use emphasis when needed. This competency tests your knowledge of how to instruct students by choosing technological tools and the effectiveness of technology-based strategies to enhance communication. Technological Tools for Effective Communication Presentation software like Prezi or Microsoft Powerpoint can be used in the classroom to teach students how to present a topic. The software can be used in the classroom to communicate between students and parents. Examples: email, Remind 101 Blogs can be used for students to write and respond to their peers' writing. All areas that are to be assessed need to be included on the rubric. Each interactive practice test Form consists of a single set of practice questions. They are more likely to participate in discussions and share their work and progress if they feel supported. They can also gain information from blogs to relate to a topic. Wikis allow for a group of people to collaborate and create content on a specific topic. Retaking or repurchasing the same Form does not give you different practice questions or change the order in which the questions are delivered. Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone. It consists of 4 main components: Mini-lesson is only about 5-10 minutes and in a whole group setting. Study Companion Study Plan Our test familiarization videos offer important information you should know when getting ready for your test. Students should also practice actively listening to their peers. Understanding their intended audience is important so they can use elements and figurative language to connect to their reader when appropriate. This competency tests your knowledge of what clear and coherent writing looks like based on the organization, conventions, style, and details used within the piece of writing. Effective Transitions A transition can be a word, group of words or a sentence that creates a flow in the text to connect thoughts and ideas.
